AUDIENCE

Lonely Planet has a diverse readership with one thing in common: all our readers are avid travellers. Our readers travel often and whether they go on a citytrip, take a long holiday to a far off land, or choose an epic adventure in nature closer to home; they are all looking for an authentic experience. The Lonely Planet audience is curious, well travelled, educated and has a median or above-average income. 7 out of 10 of our readers – both in print and online – are female, 3 out of 10 are male. Our readers can be found in every age group. The magazine is read the most by people in their thirties (31%), but 20+ (18%) and 50+ (21%) are also well-represented. Our website is visited most by people in their twenties, thirties and fourties: together these age groups form more than half of our monthly visitors.
